Munyarugarama* (Case No. MICT-12-09-AR14 transferred on 5 October 2012).

Dear President Meron and President Joensen:

It is my privilege to provide the United Nations' International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda ("ICTR") and Mechanism for International Criminal Tribunals ("MICT") with this update on the Republic of Rwanda's on-going efforts to track and apprehend fugitives Kayishema, Sikubwabo, Ntaganzwa, Ryandikayo, Ndimbati and Munyarugarama. This update is submitted pursuant to the respective Referral Chambers' requests in each of the Decisions on the Prosecutor's Requests for Referral to the Republic of Rwanda.

From the filing of Rwanda's last report dated 2 October 2012, Rwanda can report the following measures:

1. Intelligence obtained by the National Public Prosecution Authority ("NPPA")'s Genocide Fugitive Tracking Unit ("GFTU")

As stated in my last report, the GFTU in coordination with the NISS has been investigating the whereabouts of the above-names fugitives. This coordinated approach has led to new sources and leads that are assisting in locating and apprehending the fugitives. As I stated previously, given that investigations of this sort are by nature highly confidential, I am unable to elaborate in a public filing on the exact status of Rwanda's investigations to date or the nature of any information we have developed from confidential sources. Doing so would inevitably compromise Rwanda's on-going investigations and be counterproductive to our shared goal. I can simply advise you that Rwanda has made significant progress in these investigations. The remainder of this report will therefore detail non-confidential and public aspects of Rwanda's efforts to locate and apprehend these fugitives.

2. Coordinated Effort between NPPA's GFTU and the MICT's Office of the Prosecutor's Tracking Unit

a. Exchange of Information

The Head of the GFTU, Mr. John Bosco Siboyintore has met with Mr. Moussa Sanogo, Investigator, on multiple occasions to discuss coordinated tracking efforts between the GFTU and the ICTR's Office of the Prosecutor's Tracking Unit. Both units exchanged recently obtained confidential information received with the assistance of trusted informers. Both units are working in conjunction with INTERPOL.

b. Public Awareness Strategies

During these GFTU-MICT meetings, Mr. Siboyintore and Mr. Sanogo laid out strategy ideas for a new public awareness project that they would respectively propose to Prosecutor-General Ngoga and Prosecutor Jallow for approval. The proposal entails issuing a new updated version of the posters of the wanted fugitives remaining at-large and including information about the US Rewards for Justice program. These posters will aim to raise awareness of the continued existence of this program, which awards up to 5 million US dollars for information on the whereabouts of certain fugitives including those featured on the new posters.

The Republic of Rwanda will submit its next quarterly report in mid-2013.

Respectfully submitted,

REPUBLIC OF RWANDA
